CHILDREN SEE INDIAN WAR FILMS

School children of Honolulu, as well as the grown folk, are going to see Indian wars refought by the United States army this week. Matinees at the Popular, beginning with this afternoon, are to be featured for the pupils of the public schools. The war pictures, consisting of six splendid films, have the endorsement of the United States government. Battle scenes are participated in by thousands of regular soldiers and Indians from the Oklahoma reservation, and will run until next Sunday night, inclusive.

Today's matinee was set aside for the Kaulani school. The children marched from the school, after having heard Chief Hailstorm of the Cherokee tribe lecture and seen him dance, and at the theater they greeted the chief again.

JILTED LOVER WINS IN LAST ACT

Melville B. Havey's latest achievement, "The Attorney's Decision," will be unraveled for the first time in Honolulu at the Empire theater today. A powerful drama in two acts has been produced with the assistance of a company of theatrical stars.

Rosemary Theby, as Alice West, gives up her sweetheart, a lawyer, to marry a broker who controls her father's fortune. The jilted lover is five years later made district attorney. The wife soon finds herself neglected by the rich broker. The state inaugurates an investigation against crooked business interests, and the broker is drawn into a net and charged with unscrupulous dealings.

The unfaithful husband is shot while at a cabaret by a violinist whom he has wronged. Later Alice and John Travers, the district attorney, are united.

Captivating Hazel Nellis is featured in the strong and well-balanced playlet, "The Mirror of Death."

Refined, delicate and fascinating, a cast of famous comedians have made much of the burlesque farce, "To Be Called For." The play serves to introduce Cupid and cupid.

George Ade has offered another of his humorous pictorial fables. The latest is, "The Fable of the Regular Beaniery and the Peachy Newcomer." "The harbor of Love" is a new drama.

WHOLE CIRCUS TAKES PART IN LIBERTY FILM

Typically American, wholesome and most enjoyable, "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" will be the feature photo-play offering at Ye Liberty theater for the first half of the present week, commencing with tonight's performance. In addition there will be shown the fifth episode of the "Exploits of Elaine," the interesting detective serial that is appearing each Saturday in the Star-Bulletin.

"Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" is well and favorably known to a large majority of readers. Alice Heggan Rice, author of this charming novel, also of "Lovey Mary," which is combined in the photo-play with its predecessor, gained her idea for "Mrs. Wiggs" one stormy day in a crowded Sixth avenue, New York, street car, when she witnessed a boisterous fight between a woman and a man. The woman, who in spite of that and other discomforts, came back smiling and showing such grit, spirit and a sense of humor as to delight and amuse the whole weary crowd of people.

Beatriz Michelena is seen in the part of "Lovey Mary." Miss Michelena, by her beauty and ability, has won renown as a motion-picture star and is seen to advantage in this film. Blanche Chapman appears in the role of Mrs. Wiggs. Others in the cast are House Peters and Andrew Robson.

That this production has been arranged with the greatest attention to detail is evidenced from the fact that an entire circus was hired and transported to San Rafael, the home of the California Motion Picture Corporation, for use in the several circus scenes.

HAWAIIAN NIGHT AT OPERA HOUSE

The Hawaiian entertainment to be given at the Opera house next Thursday evening will be most interesting and educational to students of history (young and old), kamaainas and the strangers in the city. Elaborate preparations are being made to make this the best affair ever given by the Young People's League. Beautiful scenic effects, gorgeous costumes, delightful music and the best of the native dances will be exhibited. Some of the old folk dances never shown before will be on the program and the dancers are the best in the city. Many residents always throw up their hands at the mention of the word "hula," but it is here urged that those same people had better attend the performance in order to be convinced that the genuine native dances are not vulgar or degrading.

All the numbers on the program will be instructive. The Puna school shows how the early missionaries taught the natives and this act is sure to please. An insight into the court life of the early days will be afforded and this number alone will be worth the price of admission. Music of olden times, various instruments used by the people, the dances of the kings, the customs of the people and the costumes of royalty together with the gorgeous decorations of the times will be shown in this act.

OPERA STARS IN VAUDEVILLE AT BIJOU THEATER

Grand opera stars in a vaudeville act will be the unique added feature at the Bijou theater for the week commencing tonight. Incidentally, there will be no advance in the regular feature photo-play prices.

Mme. Hazel Sanborn, one of the most popular stars of the recent season of grand opera at the Bijou theater, and Chevalier Cavadore, lyric tenor with the same aggregation, will present a vaudeville act upon which they have been working for several years. At the termination of their local engagement they propose to tour the United States, over the larger circuits commencing with the Orpheum, and present this act. They have already been made a very large offer for a full season's billing.

Provided this added feature proves a success President Cohen of the Consolidated Amusement Company announces that he will secure other grand opera stars who decided to remain in Honolulu when the company departed for the mainland last Saturday.

The feature film for the first half of the week at the Bijou is one of the greatest farces of the silent drama, "The Million." Edward Abeles is featured in this film, and in it he scores what is probably the biggest success of his career. He is seen in the role of "Le Baron," the crook, and is called upon for six distinct impersonations. He fulfills every requirement of this trying role and his series of performances places him in the foremost rank of American character actors.

The vehicle adopted for showing modern music is the musical contest. Different styles of Hawaiian songs are given and one very laughable offering is a selection which brings in all the native instruments known for accompaniment purposes. Nothing of this nature has ever been shown in the islands before.

Tomorrow morning tickets will be on sale at the Territorial Messenger Service office at 9 o'clock.

Bernard Cooper of New York has brought suit to recover $25,000 damages from the city for the loss of his 10-year-old son, who, he charges, died on June 20, 1914, after being vaccinated.
